£550,000

Jukes are pleased to offer this three to four bedroom end of terraced house which has not come to the market since 1970 and has a garage on the side. This is a fantastic house which offers a spacious lounge, an open plan kitchen diner with a separate utility area, a work shop and large shed, very spacious garden. up the stairs offers a large shower room with two double bedrooms, a further third bedroom which could be used as an office and off that room and built over the garage is a very large bedroom with another spacious shower room. This home has great potential and will allow for a loft conversion. The kitchen and utility units are all modern and it has double glazed windows and Central heating.

Norwood Junction station is walking distance from the property, providing fast and reliable transport links. Trains from Norwood Junction reach London Bridge in just 12 minutes, with additional Overground services to Shoreditch, Canada Water, and Highbury & Islington. The area is also well connected by local bus routes and trams, making commuting across London and into nearby areas like Croydon or Crystal Palace quick and easy.

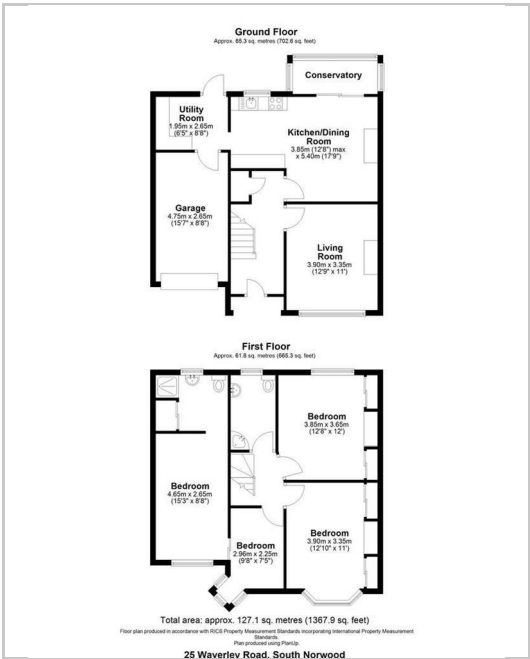

South Norwood High Street is a vibrant hub filled with independent cafés, shops, yoga studios, and bars, offering a strong sense of local character and community. You'll find everything from artisan coffee spots to craft beer pubs and boutique wellness studios. The area is also well-served by good local schools, including Harris Academy South Norwood and several primary schools, making this a fantastic place to live for families. With nearby parks, lakes, and green spaces, South Norwood strikes a perfect balance between city convenience and suburban calm.
